

Nuku Sailing experience in Sicily

OUR CREW

Claudio and Maria have been working on boats for 25 years. He is Sicilian, she is from the island of Majorca. Their love for the sea has led them to live aboard 365 days a year. They are two professionals with remarkable experience. They will teach you how to live on board and how to handle main knots.

Maria is a great cook, she will prepare for you tasty dishes with flavors that will delight your palate.

Claudio, skipper and sailing enthusiast, will show you the beauty of Sicily, including exclusive beaches and secluded coves.

They are awaiting to welcome you aboard their amazing schooner that measures 16,5 meters (54 feet) long, and will pamper you during your stay. They speak Italian, Spanish, English and French.

OUR EXPERIENCES

Claudio

«I grew up in Acitrezza, a small fishing village just a few kilometers from Catania. It was there where I developed my sailing passion. I was 7 years old when my uncle first took me on board a sailboat. Since then, anything that I could float on, has become a source of entertainment such as rafts that I built with a lot of patience, dinghies, and canoes. A windsurfer gifted by my father helped me become familiar with wind, waves, and currents. When I was 15 years old I had my first drift and at age 25 a sailing cabin cruiser, 5 meters (16,5 feet) seafront. It was with that I started sailing the Aeolian Archipelago. In 1997, I embarked as a sailor on a sail boat that measured 21 meters (68 feet) long. I've been a professional skipper since 1999.»

Maria:

«I was born on the island of Majorca. I attended several cooking classes in Barcelona Spain, where I owned a restaurant along with my two chef friends. I worked as a chef on yachts, catamarans, and sail boats within the Mediterranean area for 15 years, before meeting Claudio. My kitchen embodies our travel philosophy - a mix of Mediterranean flavors with an emphasis on Sicilian/Aeolian cuisine. We only use local products to help create a unique, gourmet, culinary experience.»

OUR SAIL BOAT

Gallian 17

The gorgeous sail boat with elegant, traditional lines and intricate detail, has been meticulously maintained in perfect condition. The boat, designed by Jean Jaques Herbulot, was originally built at the end of the 70's in a French shipyard using precious woods like oak and mahogany. It offers much larger, more comfortable space in comparison to traditional sail boats. It is rigged as a schooner with a mainsail furler and two jib furlers. Well-maintained interior spaces are furnished to offer guests with the best confort and convenience. A flush deck provides a large amount of space with solarium areas. The cockpit is central with sofas for relaxing and a large table that accommodates up to 8 people. There are two companionways. One leads you to the bow cabins, the other to the dinette and galley. The dinette is pretty spacious and can comfortably host up to 8 people.
